

A Movement Beyond Borders . . .

UNDERSTANDING THE WORLD AS A WHOLE

Susanne Schmidt

General Education Professor, Georgian College,
Owen Sound, Canada

Susi's postsecondary education in Germany focused on investigating, measuring, and analysing transport processes in terrestrial ecosystems as part of a European Research Project on Acid Rain.

In 2000, she moved to Canada with her husband and three sons, and since 2010 she has been teaching at Georgian College in General Education/Dual Credit Degree Programs and Academic Upgrading.

An important focus has always been to develop and run projects to cultivate a campus culture of changemaking and community engagement at Georgian College.
