The Hanze Summer School consists of various short courses, ranging from business and health to energy transition. Our programs take place in early summer and last 3 weeks. You don't have to worry about arranging accommodation yourself. As a university of applied sciences, we focus on theoretical knowledge and its practical application. Together in intercultural project groups, you will work on assignments. You will soon notice that learning more about where each person is from, along with their stories, is another great asset of this experience. It is an incredible opportunity to make friends for life, with people from all over the world. Next to that, field trips are a vital component of the programs, as they allow students to learn beyond the classroom setting.

“The opportunity to travel was my main reason to join. Upon entering the program I realized that the connections with real people were the reason I loved it so much. Academically, the business simulation was the highlight. It allowed us to have an insight on real-life decisions made by executives! The most important thing that I learned from this experience are differing cultures and how they can interact with each other to make deals, solve problems, and most importantly learn valuable skills.”
