Notes: Students are not required to take all needed courses at one time or in one semester.

Courses are asynchronous online. This means each course will have week to week timelines.

Students should consider their personal circumstances in determining the workload that they are able to manage.

This is the current schedule up to March 2024. Future intake dates and details will be added as they become available.

This schedule may change to meet demand. Courses may be cancelled due to insufficient enrolment.
