

WELCOME

Durham College (DC) recognizes that students need a wide variety of supports in order to be successful at college. The RISE program is here to support students who identify with having barriers to achieving success through one-on-one coaching, mentoring and dynamic programming that celebrates DC's diverse student population.

Preparing for College

The weeks leading up to the start of college are filled with a variety of emotions for students. As summer comes to an end and the start of the new school year approaches, students may find themselves working extra hours, saying goodbye to their family and friends, packing their belongings or finalizing child care arrangements and family schedules. Durham College supports new students before starting school through transition programming online and in-person.

www.durhamcollege.ca/orientation/get-prepared

Start Strong

Join us for a day full of exciting opportunities to help prepare you and your family for your first day of college. At Start Strong, you will familiarize yourself with the campus, gather vital information about how to succeed as a college student, begin to form your DC support network by connecting with students and staff and complete your college business.

Registration and further information about the Start Strong program can be found on the Orientation website.

<http://www.durhamcollege.ca/orientation/start-strong>

Time of Transition

Family members are also experiencing a period of change as their student transitions to college and possibly adulthood. Building an adult relationship with students requires communication, trust, an open mind and time. It is an important milestone for parents transitioning from provider and protector to mentor and confident. While students are becoming increasingly responsible for making their own choices and being accountable for their decisions, it is important for family members to be supportive and allow students to explore their new environment, which may be difficult but essential to their development.

Mature Students

Mature students may be recent graduates from a post-secondary institution or have been out of the workforce for a number of reasons. Others may be coming back to school to change their careers. Regardless of where they are coming from, they may experience some transitional concerns. These students are encouraged to attend mature student programming to learn more about campus services, connect with others sharing a similar experience and help ease the transition into college.

The Durham College Student Experience

Orientation is the ideal way for students to begin the year, featuring programming specifically designed to help new students make friends, mingle with faculty, learn about the campus and discover the many exciting opportunities Durham College has to offer. The Office of Student, Diversity, Inclusion and Transitions is committed to offering fun, safe and alcohol-free orientation activities to help new students adjust to campus life.

www.durhamcollege.ca/orientation

Providing a safe environment

The Office of Campus Safety and Security is committed to protecting the rights of everyone on campus. Durham College is dedicated to providing a safe environment that is conducive to learning and living.

Safety requires a partnership between all community members, including employees and students. Personal safety is enhanced by using Campus Walk and contacting the Office of Campus Safety and Security with any questions or concerns.

Sexual Violence

All first-year Durham College students are required to participate in the sexual violence prevention module on DC Connect under the PREP-1000 course. Durham College commits to engaging in public education and prevention activities. The college is expected to be a safe and positive space where members of the community feel able to work, learn and express themselves in an environment free from sexual violence

Mid-terms and available services

With the academic year in full swing and reality beginning to set in, students are preparing for mid-term tests or handing in their first assignments, giving them an opportunity to evaluate their ability to grasp course material and consider seeking academic support.

Student Academic Learning Services

Students experiencing academic difficulties are encouraged to contact the Student Academic Learning Services (SALS). SALS provides learning skills support, online tutorials, and peer tutors to help students achieve their academic goals. Study and writing skills workshops are scheduled throughout the year and cover a variety of topics including time management, test-taking, referencing and research strategies.

www.durhamcollege.ca/sals

Student Advisors

Student advisors, who are experts within their academic school, can also help students explore options available within their program of study. Student advisors work with the different support services to enhance the quality of academic life while helping students identify career goals and make sound academic decisions.

www.durhamcollege.ca/studentadvisors

Access and Support Centre

The Access and Support Centre (ASC) works in partnership with students and their professors to ensure all students have an equal and equitable opportunity to take full advantage of their education. If students have been identified with an exceptionality or are experiencing difficulties related to their studies, they can visit the ASC office for friendly, accessible and confidential services. Services include but are not limited to coaching on self-advocacy and success strategies, development of access plans, case management, counselling and assistive technology training.

Living Well

Coaching

Many students will become comfortable with their college experience; however others may feel overwhelmed or homesick. Although it can be difficult, sometimes students just need someone to talk to.

The Durham College Coaching Centre supports students to build resiliency and be successful in accomplishing their goals. Our coaches help students learn more about themselves so they can access their strengths to set goals and make decisions. If a student requires counselling, therapy or academic advising, the coach will make a referral with the student.

www.durhamcollege.ca/coaching

Mental health

College years can be times of growth, learning, life challenges and significant stress. Students can find counselling and other complementary health care services at the Campus Health Centre. The team in Mental Health Services understands asking for help can be difficult. Students may be unaware of the issue or what resources are available to help them and how to work through current situations blocking them from their full potential. If students are feeling lost, facing a problem they don't know how to handle, or they just need to talk to someone in a safe place we're here to help.

www.durhamcollege.ca/services/campus-services/health-and-medical/mental-health-services

Staying healthy

As cold and flu season approaches students may get sick for the first time away from home. The Campus Health Centre is available to assist students in managing their health. When students need to see a doctor, receive nursing care or have a prescription filled, they can take advantage of the on-campus walk-in clinic.

- Tuesday 24th - (Jan) Wednesday 1st: Holiday break

Winter Blues

Winter can be a challenging time of year for some students as the days get shorter and the snow piles up. Students may experience the winter “blues.” Encourage students to stay connected with services on campus, bundle up and spend some time outside. Included in the student tuition is a U-Pass for Durham College full-time students, which provides them with transportation throughout the Durham Region. The U-Pass gives students the opportunity to explore a variety of dining and recreation options in the area.

www.durhamregiontransit.com

Reconnecting with friends

Friends serve a very significant role in students’ development as individuals. They also function as a support team when life gets a bit overwhelming. This would be a great time for students to reconnect with friends and share new and exciting experiences.

Career Development

Every February, Career Development hosts a job fair featuring prominent local, provincial and national organizations. These employers offer full- and part-time, summer and internship opportunities.

Students are encouraged to start searching for summer jobs early in the year by exploring their options with the help of Career Development. Coaches can advise students on proper job search techniques and career development skills to help build a strong foundation for a successful career.

Career Development also provides an exclusive online service where full- and part-time positions, contracts and summer jobs are posted daily. Information on internships, volunteer opportunities and employer events are also offered through the portal. Students can also book appointments online to meet with an advisor for personalized job search and career assistance.

Diversity on Campus

The Office of Student Diversity, Inclusion and Transitions works collaboratively to create a campus culture that celebrates and embraces our many areas of diversity. Durham College fosters an environment of inclusiveness that empowers students to achieve their highest potential without fear of prejudice or bias. Students can celebrate the richness of our student population through a variety of cultural events.

Financial Aid and Budgeting

It is time for students to start thinking about their financial obligations for the upcoming academic year. If they are planning on applying for OSAP (Ontario Student Assistance Program) support, they should begin to apply by going online, completing the application and submitting any supporting documents.

Assist students in developing a financial plan that includes all costs for the academic year including any financial assistance family members may be able to provide. The Financial Info section of the website has helpful resources to assist students as make their financial plans.

<https://durhamcollege.ca/financial-info>

On Campus Employment

The Durham College Work Study Program (DCWorks) is intended to provide returning students who demonstrate a financial need with useful career-related experiences that will help them to achieve their personal and academic goals.

The Ministry of Training, Colleges, and Universities no longer funds this program. However the Financial Aid & Awards office is dedicated to continuing the program and has committed funds to it. As a result, the DCWorks program will be fully funded by Financial Aid & Awards

End of Year

It may be hard to believe, but the semester and first year of college for some students is coming to an end. Those enrolled in a one-year program may be finding themselves at the end of their academic journey. Although students completed final papers, assignments and exams last semester at the end of first semester, students may feel increased stress and fatigue at the end of the winter semester.

Staying Focused

During the last few weeks, professors may provide hints about what to expect on final exams, so class attendance is crucial. Remind students to concentrate on doing their best and to avoid focusing on what has already occurred and cannot be changed. Encourage your student to seek support from Student Academic Learning Centre (SALS) or Coaching if they are feeling overwhelmed.
